TRAINING COURSE

“RED CARD TO RACISM”

7TH - 14TH MARCH, 2022

FUENTE DE PIEDRA (MÁLAGA), SPAIN

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Sport is deemed as a major tool within society thought to promote values as well as an element of integration and meeting in which there is no discrimination.

However, over the course of repeated weekends many racist commotions arise in sport events, mainly in football matches, reminding us of the amount of improvements needed to be done in order to curb those racist episodes in years to come.

The problem of racism in sport is a global problem, regardless of the number of cases in each country, as the responses to these events are usually the same. It seems therefore that there is still a great deal to be done towards a zero tolerance policy.

Although there have been several institutional responses in recent years on an European basis, such as the support from the European commission towards projects fighting racism within football (“FARE”, “Action Week”, “Fans United”) and also from sport organisms like the UEFA and the FIFA, there are still ongoing practices of misdemeanour within football pitches all around the world.

In order to do so, all the parties, that is, players, referees, clubs, supporters, the media and governmental institutions are required to promote campaigns to raise public awareness in an effective way to curb discrimination and violence within sport events.

In addition, the fact that more and more people from different cultures live together in Europe makes it necessary to equip organisations with skills from non-formal education, methods and tools needed to work on cultural diversity and the inclusion of migrants and minority groups.

Thus, through this project we want to address issues such as discrimination and racism in sport and to provide youth workers, who work in sports associations and/or working in culturally mixed areas, of a toolkit for implementation with young people in their local communities.

The main objectives to be achieved with this project are the followings:

1. Identify all sorts of racism behaviours which may unfold in the world of sport events.
2. Promote initiatives and projects regarding penalties, prevention and education to tackle racism issues within sport.
3. Exchange experiences, good practices and methodological instruments bearing relation to fair play within sport.
4. Set up campaigns to raise awareness in order to fight racism within sport.
5. Create a network of associations committed to working out a plan to tackle the issue of racism in any given field that would lead to the development of future projects which will likewise promote the endeavour to battle against this type of discrimination.
